ANNUAL REPORT

PREFACE

The improvement of human life quality becomes one of the objectives of the Indonesian Governmental Nawa Cita programs this time. Wahana Visi Indonesia (WVI) believes that children become part of human beings whose life quality should be improved. Unfortunately, children often become the most vulnerable and ignored party so that they do not obtain attention in the process of the development of life quality itself.

Positioning children as the priority of the beneficiary become the basic guideline in each sustainable development program implemented by WVI. Child well-being becomes the objective of every program in the sectors of education, health, economy, child protection which are implemented in 13 provinces in Indonesia.

Striving for avoiding children from deadly and infectious diseases, improving child's reading and writing skill, developing domestic financial management, and strengthening parents' function in educating and protecting children becomes our global objectives in 2016.

We are grateful that so far we have been able to keep our faith to position children to be the focus of every cross-sector development program. We are thankful for the support from various parties including the central government, the local government, institutions, private parties, and individuals in and outside the country in the program implementation this year.

The same hope to realize the child life which is more quality becomes the motivation to keep move forward next year. Let's continue this collective fight, improving Indonesian child life, who we love, to be the full life.

GPSA PROJECT

in 3 Districts: Kupang, TTU, and Sikka became the model area of GPSA project

WVI implemented the Citizen Voice and Action (CVA) approach through Global Partnership for Social Accountability (GPSA) program, supported by the World Bank. The Citizen Voice and Action is an approach to the social accountability promoting the participation between the community and government to increase the services of health, education, and services in other sectors.

The results:

- Increasing the population understanding about minimum health services.
- Increasing trust and openness among the population in giving suggestions to the service provider and government.
- Openness of the health service provider in accepting input from the community aiming to increase the quality of the health services.

Nita Village in Sikka became one of the villages implementing the Citizen Voice and Action system.

“Filling in the assessment card implemented in the Citizen Voice and Action program helps the community to be frank about what they feel and experience in the service facilities.”

Antonius Luju, Nita Village Head

For the spirit to build the transparency and accountability of the village government, and to increase the participation of the village citizens, Nita village was appointed to be the Best Village of Indonesia by the Home Affairs Ministry and also Nominee Village of the Tempo Magazine for the category of the Village with Budget Openness in 2016.

“For the implementation of Citizen Voice and Action, now Pustu* and Posyandu run better. The health cadres are diligent to invite pregnant and breastfeeding mothers to check their pregnancy to Posyandu,”

Mardis Nope, citizen of Hueknutu Village, Kupang District

* Puskesmas Pembantu (Supporting Community Health Centre)

“I am proud and happy as the community has understood the importance of health for children. My hope is that all children in this kampong have exclusive breast milk, so that they will not undergo malnutrition, but their health is good!”
