Every passing year becomes our reflection to reach our vision for every child life in all its fullness. We always feel grateful when we listen to every story and see the changes in the children and communities whom we have supported through 62 child-focused programs.

The involvement of many parties in the effort to promote the well-being of children becomes an encouragement for the sustainability of the assisting programs in the community which is run by Wahana Visi Indonesia (WVI). The alignment of our programs in the field with the programs that are run by the central and local government become our focus for the sustainability of our program in the long run.

In 2017, one of WVI's agendas is to give priority to child protection, without setting aside programs in other sectors such as education, health and the family economy. WVI's commitment to protect children is portrayed through the launch of Ending Violence against Children (Penghapusan Kekerasan Terhadap Anak / PKTA) campaign which will run over the next 5 years, together with 20 other non-government organizations belonging to the PKTA Alliance.

Thank you for every effort and collaboration that has been done throughout this year. We believe that every single thing that we have done for the children becomes hope to promote the well-being of the children.

Let's go hand in hand for the Indonesian children.

Through its Infant Young and Child Feeding (IYCF) Program since 2016, some staff has participated in the progressive training that begins with the training of health workers as IYCF Counselor which was expected to train another cadre to be the same counselor.

6 from 15 trained health workers of Namohalu Esiwa Puskesmas who joined the training have became the IYCF Facilitators after qualifying as IYCF Counselors, where they continued to give numerous trainings to other cadres and midwives in the village. One of them was Ruty Asniman Harefa, a midwife of Namohalu Village who was most recently invited by Wahana Visi Indonesia as the Counseling Training Facilitator.

I find many behavior changes in society after IYCF training regarding to early breastfeeding initiation and the amount of babies who passed exclusive breastfeeding. Before this training, I did not care when mothers gave formula milk to their babies, but now I feel guilty if I do not remind them about the bad effect of formula milk and the benefit of exclusive breast milk,” said Ruty telling the positive change after joining the IYCF training.

ENHANCING THE QUALITY OF EDUCATION

WVI runs educational program that is related to improve access to quality education. It has focused on Early Childhood Care & Development (ECCD), contextual life skills & character education, and non-formal education.

Beneficiaries: 50,853 children aged 6-11 years old
WVI interventions:

1. Early Childhood Care and Development (ECCD)
Young children need to be supported in development of physical, mental and social abilities that will enable them to thrive. Understanding how a child develops and why the early years of a child’s life are important is critical for understanding the concept of ECCD.

Children under 6 years of age who actively attend an ECCD center: 794
ECCD teachers trained: 146

Fun Learning in Ketimavit ECCD
Ketimavit village is located in Wouma district in Jayawijaya regency, Papua. However, the Early Childhood Care and Development (ECCD) center has been developed here. The Ketimavit ECCD building was built using village fund and sponsored by District’s Education Office. However, the activities did not run well here because most children of Ketimavit were not interested to come.

To cope with this condition Wahana Visi Indonesia (WVI) at La’uk Nayak operational office held meeting with parents so they could ask their children to come to school. After meeting, parents started to understand the importance of early education for their children. The changes happened after that. Many parents actively took their children to ECCD that their children started to enjoy the class activity.

“Thank you WVI for encouraging parents and children to come to ECCD!” said Ben Tabuni who manages the Ketimavit ECCD.

2. Contextual Character Education (CCE) Project at Elementary School
The goal of CCE Project is to improve children’s learning outcomes – read, write, and counting competencies – as well as to develop behaviors and attitudes from constructive local value (moral education).

Training for 786 teachers
264 schools
31 schools have replicated the model of CCE

The contextual character building motivates teachers to participate more and to be more interactive in teaching so that the local wisdom values can be well-delivered to the students and change their character.
3. Non-Formal Education (Children Group 6-11 years old)
Non-formal education is an approach that is carried out to develop child’s life skills (psychosocial abilities for adaptive and positive behavior) through talent and interest activities. These activities are done outside the school time and accommodated by the community.

a. Birth Certificate
In 2019, the Indonesian government targets the ownership of birth certificates for children aged 12-18 years old to reach 95%. WVI also tries to educate parents that every child has the right to live worthily, in example having birth certificate.

43,233
Children have birth certificate.

8,984
Children feel the impact of cultural revitalization which prioritizes the right of the child.

Birth Certificate for All Children
On March 2017, Wahana Visi Indonesia cooperated with the government of Sekadau district in West Kalimantan to educate parents about the importance of birth certificate for children. The moment hit Merita. She was challenged to increase the number of birth certificate owners in her sub-village.

At first, she only made birth certificate for her children but finally she wanted all children in her neighborhood had their own birth certificate. Many people rejected Merita at first but she did not give up that in the end they supported Merita.

> I did it so that children in the sub-village have their own birth certificate that they could go to school, not only stay at home,” she said.

Together with the chief of neighborhood area, Merita give the socialization about the importance of birth certificate. At that time, 85% children in her area had their own birth certificate although she was not satisfied with this. Then Merita brought the same socialization to village level.

At first, it was difficult to encourage the Head of Village to make all children in the village get their own birth certificate. But again, Merita worked with the cadres of Health Post to execute it that they finally decided to make birth certificate fee free.

b. Village Child Protection Committee (KPAD)

On that day, 22 from 25 ASCA members attended the closing of ASCA which had been started from July 2016, including Endang.

After being calculated, the value of shares per sheet which was originally worth Rp. 20,000 increased to Rp. 25,600. With this amount of value, each member got 11 shares for minimum and 55 shares for maximum. Endang received 52 shares with total share value of Rp. 1,331,200. Thus, Endang received profit for Rp. 331,200 by joining ASCA.

Alhamdulilah, I am very happy. I can help my husband getting additional income, said Endang whose husband works as cardboard collector.

Ira is a Posyandu cadre in Beurawang Village, Pidie Jaya, Aceh. Ira and her family were affected by Pidie Jaya earthquake on December 2016. They had to stay at evacuation post when the disaster happened.

As a Posyandu cadre, Ira saw that there were abundant aids coming to help but there was no special food for children. There were 97 under-five children in Beurawang Village, which 32 of them were under-two children that required special need and attention.

Ira then joined the training of Infant Young and Child Feeding in emergency situation at sub-district level. In the training, she learned about health and cleanliness in emergency situation, how to take care children during emergency, clean water for children and many more.

“We have never been received such detailed IYCF training. This training has increased our knowledge. We got new information such as clean water. We just knew that we should boil the water for our children, even if it was refill water. Most of the mothers were often lazy but it gave bad effect for the children,” told Ira.

CULTURAL REVITALIZATION IN ALOR, Thanks to Various Parties

Customs dominate many aspects of community life in Alor District, East Nusa Tenggara, including marriage. Belis (dowry), in the form of moko (a historic object made of bronze and shaped like drum) and gong, is their trademark. The application of a high belis makes it difficult for the bride and groom – to be. Many couples find it difficult to establish customary marriage due to high moko price.

WVI collaborates with traditional leaders, religious leaders and local government figures facing of these challenges. The long process, started in 2007, has given result in deep reflection and come up with the idea of cultural revitalization. The efforts to simplify customary marriage are expected to bring changes to the fulfillment of the basic rights of children, including the right to live more decent (having birth certificates), as well as the right to grow and develop (getting a decent education).

In 2014, as many as 7 tribes (customary groups) in Alor Regency have made customary agreements and followed the rules of the new belis and of course the rules have been lighter. And finally, at the end of 2017, the entire 12 tribes have received this change process.

KPMG Helps to Create Child-Friendly Environment

Other WVI’s partner, Klynveld Peat Marwick Goerdeler (KPMG), a professional services company with audit service lines, taxes and advisors, participated in creating a child-friendly environment in Penjaringan and Jatinegara, Jakarta. The event, held on July 15 and 22, 2017, was the second volunteer activity of KPMG’s staff after it was conducted in 2009 for the first time.

This activity got support from the village head, Citizens Association (RW), Neighborhood Association (RT), Community Health Center (Puskesmas), Early Childhood Care and Development (PAUD) teachers, Integrated Health Post (Posyandu) cadres, and local residents. During the event, volunteers from KPMG participated in painting and decorating garbage cans, flower pots, walls; buying supporting facilities for early childhood activities and playing with children. In addition, the facilities to support children’s learning activities such as fans, reading cabinets, carpets, and dispensers are also given to PAUD in RW 01 Rawabunga, Jatinegara.

The project aims to create a vibrant and prosperous cocoa farming community as the cornerstone of a sustainable cocoa sector.

On June 1, 2017 the second Cocoa Life project has begun. After successful implementation in Kolaka and East Kolaka (Southeast Sulawesi), the project grows to Pinrang, Enrekang and Luwu (South Sulawesi). In its implementation, this multi-sector project focuses on 3 pillars of community development of cocoa farmers, which are: communities (helping communities develop action plans for positive change in the community), livelihoods (opening alternative income opportunities and improving household finance management skills), and youth (increasing active participation of young people and reducing the worst forms of child labor).

Praise and Worship Song for East Manggarai Children

Just like Sidney Mohede, Maarten Wassink also utilizes his singing talent to support the fully alive of Indonesian children. He and his colleagues in The Choir Company (TCC) from the Netherlands, performed a series of Night of Praise in several cities. This event was arranged by WVI to voice the concern for children in Indonesia, especially in East Manggarai, East Nusa Tenggara Province (NTT).

The Night of Praise titled "We Are Changing the World" lasted for 12 days in 7 major cities. Some churches like GKT Hosana Bumi Permai Surabaya, GKT 3 Trip Heroes of Malang, GKI Manyar Surabaya, GKI Ulung Surabaya, GKI Ngupasan Yogyakarta, GKI Pajajaran Magelang, GKI Sangkrah Solo, GBI Cambodia Depok, and GKI Bogor Court became partners for this activity.

Together with people who attended the night of praise and worship, TCC and WVI successfully received sponsorship support for 600 children in East Manggarai, one of the WVI assisted areas.
Being in the field with the WVI team was an eye-opening experience. Despite the scorching heat of the sun, the WVI team continues to vigorously coordinate with each other for camp preparation. I am the city boy, I am not accustomed to the heat of Sumba, rushed under the nearest tent. I applaud the WVI team who patiently and diligently do things that donors do not see. In full spirits, the program runs neatly so that children can grow well physically and mentally. This experience makes me grateful for the presence of WVI in the small areas of Indonesia that make a real change for the nation.

I hope that WVI continues to reach areas previously untouched by other aid, of course with sustainable and continuous programs.

Demas Ryan, facilitator of “Jamboree of East Sumba Children” on the National Children Day

"After almost 3 years I had longed for becoming a child sponsor, finally I found Wahana Visi Indonesia (WVI) program on January 2017. With nominal affordable sponsorship donations, I decided to sponsor 2 children in East Nusa Tenggara (NTT). I was impressed by WVI, the system was transparent, I got the children’s progress through their annual report, as well as the card, written/drawn by them.

In August 2017, through Berani Mimpi (Dare to Dream) campaign, I had an opportunity to visit Wamena, Papua. With many challenges faced in the field, particularly regarding to local culture, I am amazed by the totality and consistency of WVI to make changes, little by little, for example through education and health. The parents there started to realize the importance of education for their children. The children began to understand the importance of cleanliness, such as washing hands after playing and using toilet for defecating. It is simple but basic and important.

Salute to WVI. Keep serving the Indonesian children and community."

The SiGAP (Strengthening Government’s Ability towards Disaster Preparedness) program, implemented by Wahana Visi Indonesia, has achieved encouraging results, such as the success of raising awareness about disaster preparedness, reducing the potential for dengue fever epidemic, and making students ready for facing a disaster. This is proven by the recent earthquake that rocked Jakarta and surrounding areas, the students in the implemented areas of SiGAP program know what to do, and protect themselves properly during classroom evacuation.

Harlan Hale, USAID Regional Advisor for Disaster Management

"Alor gets a nickname, Earth of a Thousand Moko, however the number of moko is reduced. Moko is a typical of Alor society regarding to marriage using belismoko and gong. Many couples are difficult to marry legally because of the customs, high belis implementation, so that the welfare of the community and the education of children is affected.

The effort of Wahana Visi Indonesia (WVI) from 2012 to mobilize the elders (customary leaders) who want to engage in the cultural revitalization movement to simplify the practice of excessive marriage and belis culture has now succeeded in revitalizing the 12 tribes in Alor Regency. Thanks to good cooperation with Village Community Empowerment Board (BPMD).

The government deeply appreciates the efforts of WVI, which has had an impact: many couples have completed the legal marriage of customs, religion and government with ease, because of using the mall revitalization. Therefore, the children quickly get the fulfillment of their rights in the form of birth certificates, thanks to the legal status of marriage of their parents.

Alor District Government continues its partnership in 2018 while allocating local budget to support the WVI joint program, not only about cultural revitalization but also Village Owned Enterprises (BUM-Desa) and Alor Child Forum. Hopefully, the public welfare and education of Alor's children will be better.

"I am very grateful to know and be part of sharing with fellow man, together with Wahana Visi Indonesia (WVI) team. Our students (KB-TK-SDK Nasional Anglo - LC) are happy because they are given their own savings box by WVI, which is our first collaboration.

I personally and also representing the school institution, would like to thank the WVI team who has never been tired of coming to our school to share and learn together about God’s word related to current issues according to the age of our children.

My prayer for WVI team, may God entrust WVI in expanding their assisted area to support the children’s need. May God bless WVI through their vision and services. And we can be part of it to be a blessing for all Indonesian people. Amen"

NETIZEN’S COMMENTS
Kristian, 16, was born and raised in Wamena, a small town in Papua province of Indonesia. When he was a teenager, he liked to join the activities of various child forums such as Jayawijaya Child Forum and a series of National Children's Day Celebration activities at the district level.

Having participated in Child Forum, Kristian then joined the Sahabat Nusantara Community group that brought the issue of children through the documentary movie entitled "Sa Butuh Ko Pu Cinta" telling about the life of street children in Wamena City.

The movie was uploaded on the YouTube channel and viewed for more than 1,000 times. Because of this reason, Tigor became one of the children who got the opportunity to join The WHO 8th Milestones of the Global Campaign for Violence Prevention Meeting at Ottawa, Canada to represent Wahana Visi Indonesia on October 19 to 20, 2017. Besides Kristian, two other children from Indonesia, Luisa, 16, from Kupang and Monica, 15, from Yogyakarata were selected as Indonesian children’s representative. The selection process was held from 2016 until 2017 by 3 child-focused organizations: Wahana Visi Indonesia, ChildFund Indonesia and Yayasan Sayangi Tunas Cilik which are members of the Alliance of End Violence against Children (PKTA Alliance).

"During the meeting, I shared the conditions of violence against street children in Wamena and my experience in filmmaking process," told Tigor sharing the story of his experience in Canada. Next, he hopes that child violence would no longer happens in his city.
Merlin, Indonesian Representative in Asia-Pacific Forum

Merlin, 16, from Sikka, East Nusa Tenggara was previously a shy girl who was reluctant to talk to strangers. However, nobody ever thought this girl got a chance to speak in front of people in Colombo, Sri Lanka on October 16, 2017. Merlin’s shy character has slowly faded since she was active in various activities with the Village Child’s Forum in Sikka District, East Nusa Tenggara Province. She was then getting braver to voice her opinion in front of the crowd.

In addition, Merlin’s knowledge on child rights increased especially the right to protection. As a follow up, Merlin and his friends at the Village Children’s Forum actively conducted socialization in their villages using posters, photos and videos. Merlin hoped that there would be no more violence against village children with such socialization activities.

Together with five other child representatives from Asia-Pacific region, Merlin represented the voice of a child from Indonesia at the global launching of End Violence against Children campaign.

"Returning from Colombo meeting, I will share my experience to my friends in the village so we can learn together," said Merlin.

Fajar, Likes to Attend Development Planning Meeting

Fajar, 15, was in high school, but he had brought his voice as a child to the government level. As a member of the Jatinegara Child’s Forum in Jakarta, Fajar regularly attends the Development Planning Meeting (Musrenbang) from community level to sub-district level. In Musrenbang, Fajar voices for children’s opinion to share with government.

"I like to join Child Forum because it has trained my mental and opened my insight so that I could make friends and appreciate more the environment," said Fajar telling the benefits of joining the forum. On August 2017, Fajar, and several representatives of children from various districts in Indonesia got the opportunity to attend a workshop organized by Wahana Visi Indonesia in cooperation with the Ministry of Woman Empowerment and Child Protection (KPPPA) about how to involve children in Musrenbang. It was expected that Musrenbang could involve children in any decision making.
